DOG IS ACQUITTED OF KILLING COW
Spot, by Courtesy to the Jury, Wins Case and Saves His Owner.
SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 30.—Spot, a brown bird dog owned by Robert Rod-dard, accused of driving Beth, a cow belonging to Byron A. Wilson, into a barbed wire fence and causing its death, was acquitted by a jury in the superior court, where Judge William A.
Huneebald presided.
The dog was a witness in his own behalf, despite the objections of counsel for Wilson, and won instant favor from the jury box and extended its paw to each of the twelve jurors in turn.
A dozen men and women gave testimony for and against the dog, but as there were no eyewitnesses, and the evidence was circumstantial, the jury gave the benefit of the doubt, and returned a verdict of "not guilty." Wilson, who sought $5 damages for the killing of his cow, may appeal the case on technical grounds.
POLICE SAVE PANIC AT BOXING BOUT
PITTSBURG, Oct. 30.—No serious iniff Judd Druff and the police are commended for preventing a panic. They sprang upon the stage and with great effort quieted the spectators. The building was thought to be well braced.

The vibrations caused by the shifting of the boxes, is believed to have weakened the floor.

NEGRO, CONVICTED, PASSES HIS HAT Jury Contributes After Sending Him to Penitentiary for Six Years as Thief.
HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 30.—Convicted of theft, Tom Robinson, a negro, astounded the court by calmly taking up a collection after the jury had pronounced him guilty and sentenced him to six years in the penitentiary.
Robinson conducted his own defense and as the jury retired seemed to realize that he would be sent to prison. He coolly leaned over and touched Prosecuting Attorney Love for a dime and then, made bold by his success, passed his hat among the lawyers and received a shower of silver. Nor did he miss the jury on their return to the court room, and as a final effort called upon Judge Robinson, who contributed before pronouncing sentence upon the ingenious darker who had proceeded to capitalize his misfortune.
